Access:

5 km from Tolmin to the village Podljubinj. Park in the village near the bridge for the Beri waterfall (signed).

Approach:

From the sign for the Beri waterfall cross the bridge and continue for 10 min. Just before the second bridge go uphill (to the right) to the upper part of the rough scree. It is the most tiring part of the way. Just under the rock barrier turn left on the small path and continue till you reach the stream (2 ironcables on the way). Then cross the stream (3rd ironcable) and continue for another 5 minutes, afterwards descend into the canyon (there is no path going down).

Description of the canyon:

C 5m: one piton with nylon track (L)

C 15m + C 5m: two spits (R)

D 2m

C 8m: one spit (center of the boulder)

150m walking (possible exit)

T 2m

C 15m: 2 spits (R)

C 3m: rope through the hole in the rock (L)

C 6m: tree – unequiped (R)

C 15m: two spits (D)

50 m of walking

C 7 m: tree with rope (L)

C 38 m: two spits with chain (L)

After the last waterfall follow the path starting on the right side of the bank (10 min to the car).

C = cascade

D = down climb

T = tobogan, slide

L = left

R = right

Note:

The first descent on 24th of March 2012, Canyoning Cult Slovenia (David Sefaj, Matic Udir, Robert Zerovec, Grega Maffi, Urska Bricelj).

Rappeling points are sometimes hard to catch because they are out of the water.
